

EARTH, AIR, FIRE, WATER WORKSHOP

Renate Millonig & Jo-anne Sarre

A workshop to explore Steiner's 'Creative Speech'

Saturday 24th August 10.00am – 12.00pm

WWS Library - Gold coin donation

An approach to language which unlocks the sleeping beauty of words

This workshop involves getting to know, feel and hear the sounds we speak every day as elemental and archetypal creative energies

A must for teachers, writers, performers and everyday speakers.

Please Note: *Wear loose clothing and appropriate footwear for movement work
This workshop is for adult participants*

Please register your attendance via the front office

Email: office@wws.sa.edu.au or ph:85562655

RENATE MILLONIG conducts Speech and Drama workshops in school for educators. She is a member of the Word Sisters who visited Willunga earlier this year with their wonderful production entitled, Dancing Backwards. Renate's style and presentation is highly engaging and filled with pedagogical insight. Renate manages to impart her deep Anthroposophical understanding with a lively sense of fun and enthusiasm making her workshops completely accessible to all participants.

JO-ANNE SARRE has worked in the Performing Arts sector as a freelance director, actor, storyteller, playwright and educator since her four-year Speech and Drama training at The Harkness Studio, Sydney in 1986. She has a Diploma of Teaching (South Australian College of Advanced Education 1982) and First-Class Honours in Drama (Flinders University 2009). During her career Jo-anne has trained Waldorf teachers across Australia (Rudolf Steiner College, Sheoak College), UK (Emerson College), Europe, India and China. This includes supporting teachers in their own artistic development as well as assisting in classrooms and directing plays. Joanne is the founding director of Inkpot Arts (a community Arts not-for-profit)